

Where To Dine for Thanksgiving in Las Vegas

by Susan Stapleton | Nov 10, 2016, 10:00am PST

Thanksgiving may be in two weeks, but don't fret if you haven't made plans yet. Many restaurants will be open to serve you and your family all the turkey and tryptophan you want. Special prix-fixe menus bring holiday meals without the hassle of spending hours in the kitchen. And every imaginable Thanksgiving day food from squash bisques and mashed potatoes to turkey and pumpkin pie. Keep in mind that almost every restaurant in a casino is open on Thanksgiving Day. So sit back and eat yourself into a food coma without the worry of having to do the dishes this year at one of these 86 restaurants.

4 Andrea's

Executive chef Joseph Elevado at Andrea's in Encore Las Vegas has created a special Thai-inspired turkey dish for Thanksgiving, turkey Thai green curry with coconut, kabocha squash, winter melon, dried cranberries and Thai basil for $36.
